

THE JOURNEY

February 2020

Dear Zion,

One of the young men from our basketball team sent me a text prior to our most recent basketball game asking if he could change his number to honor the late Kobe Bryant. I replied with what might be characterized as typical “coachspeak.” My answer suggested that if he really wanted to honor Kobe’s memory, then he would be in the gym every morning at 4 a.m. working on all of the subtleties of the game which most players find too tedious, too insignificant, or too boring. Bryant’s legacy, at least with respect to basketball, includes a tireless work ethic and attention to detail. Rather than applying this aspect of Bryant’s legacy to their lives, most players find it easier to buy a jersey, get a tattoo, or shout “Kobe!” as they throw a wadded up piece of trash across a room toward a receptacle. Of course there is nothing wrong with any of these ways to show affection, respect, or love for someone who impacted our lives. I wonder though, when we use the word “honor,” if perhaps there is something deeper to consider.

Presumably, Kobe was alone for the majority of those 4 or 5 a.m. workouts during his lifetime. He spent time perfecting minute aspects of basketball that most players are either unaware of or willingly choose to ignore. Bryant’s legacy is a complicated one and his was only one of the lives lost in the horrible crash last week, yet the text from my player reminded me of a couple of passages from Matthew’s gospel. In chapter six, Jesus is speaking of prayer. He says, “But when you pray, go into your room, close the door and pray to your Father, who is unseen. Then your Father, who sees what is done in secret, will reward you.” I am reflecting on the countless hours alone in a gym, in secret. In chapter 21, Jesus shares a parable of two sons asked by their father to work in the vineyard. One tells his father he will, then does not. The other tells his father he won’t work, and then does. I am reflecting on all the ways we say we honor Jesus, yet don’t, and all of the people who may call themselves atheist or agnostic, but still honor Him in their work.

It is easy to wear a cross around our necks, tell people we are Christian, and attend services on Sunday. Honoring the risen Christ is different than that. It means willingly letting go of our ego and its desire to be seen or thought of in a certain way. This is the first step in authentic prayer, and it must be relentlessly pursued, even if no one ever knows about it. Even if it is all done at 4 a.m. in secret. Honoring the risen Christ means that aspects of our lives we deem inconsequential, tedious, or boring become the most important. The way we are present in the check out line at the store, the greeting we offer to the stranger, the way we fill an ice tray, etc. All of these are opportunities to manifest the love of Jesus. That is how we honor Him.

Love, Erik

They were to bring their letter back the following Sunday. One little boy wrote, "Dear God, We had a good time at church today. Wish you could have been there!"

The next meeting will be held on February 7 with Judy H. hosting.

Thank You

I just want to thank you for the donation of hats & gloves. What a thoughtful gesture! I let the front desk know that the nurse office will store them, & to send any student in need. The generosity is so much appreciated !! Please pass the word on to your church members, that we are very grateful.

“When I came to you, brothers and sisters,<sup>[a]</sup> I did not come proclaiming the mystery<sup>[b]</sup> of God to you in lofty words or wisdom. <sup>2</sup> For I decided to know nothing among you except Jesus Christ, and him crucified. <sup>3</sup> And I came to you in weakness and in fear and in much trembling. <sup>4</sup> My speech and my proclamation were not with plausible words of wisdom, <sup>[c]</sup> but with a demonstration of the Spirit and of power, <sup>5</sup> so that your faith might rest not on human wisdom but on the power of God.

<sup>6</sup> Yet among the mature we do speak wisdom, though it is not a wisdom of this age or of the rulers of this age, who are doomed to perish. <sup>7</sup> But we speak God’s wisdom, secret and hidden, which God decreed before the ages for our glory. <sup>8</sup> None of the rulers of this age understood this; for if they had, they would not have crucified the Lord of glory. <sup>9</sup> But, as it is written,

*“What no eye has seen, nor ear heard,
nor the human heart conceived,*

what God has prepared for those who love him”—

<sup>10</sup> these things God has revealed to us through the Spirit; for the Spirit searches everything, even the depths of God. <sup>11</sup> For what human being knows what is truly human except the human spirit that is within? So also no one comprehends what is truly God’s except the Spirit of God. <sup>12</sup> Now we have received not the spirit of the world, but the Spirit that is from God, so that we may understand the gifts bestowed on us by God.”

1 Corinthians 2:1-12
